Sure, but what if everyone involved in the decision-making process whether or not to investigate (and later arrest, charge, etc.) IS IN ON IT?

Yeah, nothing happens. And look what we're seeing - nothing happening to any of these election fraud criminals. What does that tell you?

HEY YOU SUBHUMAN PIECE OF GUTTER FILTH:

Proclaim this among the nations: “Prepare for war; rouse the mighty men; let all the men of war advance and attack! 10Beat your plowshares into swords and your pruning hooks into spears. Let the weak say, ‘I am strong!’ 11Come quickly, all you surrounding nations, and gather yourselves. Bring down Your mighty ones, O LORD

We're coming for you, and it won't be in minecraft.

That can be a new .WIN site! They already have consumeproduct.win which is the old banned /r/consumeproduct from reddit.

Sadly, consumeproduct.win isn't nearly as good as the old Reddit version.... yet. I hope it improves. 95% reduction in awesome mocking posts about Funko pops and idiots with walls full of Star Wars figures they paid a total of $185,000 for (including expensive "rare" ones, as if anyone gives a shit how many there are out there) all of which cost the mass-producing corporation a total of probably $40 in materials and labor to actually make. So now the guy has to work until he dies of old age due to having no retirement savings, in exchange for a wall of useless nerd plastic bullshit. LOL.

Almost no posts like that anymore, just other stuff that kinda sucks. I really miss the good content!

They'll make their final case in another damning presentation in front of congress. The media will ignore the substance and evidence revealed in the presentation and repeat their worn-out, dismissive rhetoric using a combination of buzz-words like "unhinged", "deranged", "attempt to overturning the election", "false conspiracies", "baseless allegations", "no evidence" and so on. Most of Congress will ignore what they saw once again and vote the way their deep-state paymasters and blackmailers tell them to. Congress will vote to certify Biden. At that point, nobody knows what will happen.

Most likely, Pence will attempt a filibuster until he is forced to certify. Trump will need to make an actual power play during this time, or have a "crossing the Rubicon" move up his sleeve where everyone decides to ignore the rules and we have an old-fashioned power-struggle instead. In any scenario where Trump continues to hold office, that's likely what it would take because evidence and truth is meaningless. You can't argue with the corrupt, that's why congress always votes party lines. Arguments are meaningless, only loyalty matters. Does Trump have loyalty among those who can win a Washington power struggle? Without military involvement or a right-wing populist uprising, the odds are not great. Either way, DC is militantly left wing meaning Trump and republicans are in enemy territory already. He needs a large turnout to even the odds if he does have anything planned.

= AngryCanary 1 point 1 hour ago +1 / -0

According to the rules, Pence can't select alternate electors without a majority vote in congress. That will never happen because truth and evidence doesn't matter at this point, only loyalty matters and most of congress is controlled by their paymasters, the media and the deep state. If he does attempt to stop the certification, it would likely be through a filibuster until either congress forces him to vote, ignores him, or Trump can execute an old-fashioned power struggle. Unless Trump knows something I don't, which may be the case, if they went that route it would need to involve actually arresting people, meaning he would need a monopoly on force. Are people loyal to him in the DOD and SS willing to fight over this? Whatever happens, it will be for the history books, I just hope we are the ones to write them.
